Textbooks: A list of a number of useful books can be found on the course web page. You really need both a measure-theoretic probability book and a measure-theoretic statistical theory book in your library. So "officially" we'll consider the book by Athreya and Lahiri and the book by Shao to be the course texts.

Class Schedule: 3:40-5:00 PM T/R, 2:10-3:00 PM W 296 Town Hall

Final Exam: 5/3/07 2:15-4:15 PM¹ Location TBA

Course Grading:	Mid-Term Exam	40%	(M 3/5/07 7-9 PM Location TBA)
	Final Exam	40%	(R 5/3/07 2:15-4:15 PM ² Location TBA)
	Homework	20%	(As announced in class and by e-mail)

Schedule: Vardeman will be out of town January 23rd. The evening Mid-term session will make up one class session for this. If other make-ups are needed, those will be arranged during the term.

Assignments: Individual students will prepare and turn in the Homeworks. You may discuss these assignments with fellow students. But each individual must write up his or her own assignments for turning in. This is an integrity issue. Do not copy what someone else has written and turn it in as your own. Each student will attach a cover sheet to his or her assignment with the following written out, signed, and dated in his or her own handwriting:

I have neither given nor received unauthorized assistance on this assignment.
