Extra Credit Paper 20 pts

Guidelines:

1) Must be a full 5 pages of text type-written (1-1.5 spaced) plus a bibliography page.

2) On a subject concerning world hunger.

3) Referenced from at least 6 scholarly sources: books (or book chapters) or published academic journal paper(s). Other internet sources may be used in addition to the scholarly sources. Neither our textbook, “The World Food Problem,” nor class lectures may be used as references. Papers receiving full credit will be based on a thoughtful analysis including an ethical discussion including ethical arguments using ethical theory and principles.

4) Will be graded based on the quality of your research and synthesis of ideas. Plagiarism or cutting and pasting from other sources is not acceptable.

Grading Rubric:

a. Engaged, thoughtful presentation of your topic and excellent analysis of the social, ethical, economic, and environmental implications of it. Report integrates and inter-relates your topic with other concepts and ideas covered in class relating to poverty, ethics, agriculture, women’s status, etc. Scholarly references are used to back up the analysis.

b. Good presentation of your topic analysis of the social, ethical, economic, and environmental implications of it. Does more than a minimal job of integrating and inter-relating your topic with other concepts and ideas covered in class relating to poverty, ethics, agriculture, women’s status, possible policy changes, etc. Scholarly references are used to back up the analysis.

c. Fair presentation of your topic and analysis of the social, ethical, economic, and environmental implications of it. Integrates your topic with other concepts and ideas covered in class relating to poverty, ethics, agriculture, women’s status and policy changes. Scholarly references are used to back up the analysis.