Interpreting scatterplots: Is your rent affecting your pulse?

Direction ..................................

Form .................................

Scatter ..............................

Other interesting observations ........................................

In the last few days some late survey takers added new data. One of these people had a pulse of 90, and pays a rent of $600. Plot this point on the above scatterplot.